

August 17, 2018

Dear Colleagues,

I am pleased to inform you that Savannah State University is hosting the 22nd Annual Southeast Model African Union on November 8-10, 2018.

The Southeast Model African Union is an exciting co-curricular activity that gives students the opportunity to simulate the proceedings of the African Union which is headquartered in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. Student-delegates play the role of Ambassadors representing specific African countries and debate issues on the conference agenda. The resolutions of the conference will be shared with the staff of the African Union in Addis Ababa.

To prepare for the conference, students conduct research to understand the positions of the countries they represent in addition to studying the structure, roles and procedures of the various committees of the African Union. Each school selects one or more African countries they wish to represent at the conference and will be given preparation materials to help students play effectively their role.

I am writing to cordially invite you to join several academic institutions that have already registered for the conference. If you have never been part of the Model African Union conference or have not participated in a long time, please seize this opportunity to bring your students to SEMAU 2018. These students will always have fond memories of their participation in SEMAU 2018.

The conference will also allow students to socialize through various events including the exciting Riverboat cruise on Friday, November 9.

For information pertaining to schedule, registration, fees, events, and accommodation, please click on this link <https://www.savannahstate.edu/international-education/modelun/index.shtml>

You can send me an email to request your country and I will be glad to add your institution to the list.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Emmanuel Naniuzeyi".

Emmanuel Naniuzeyi, Ph.D.
Director of SEMAU